

The ADRC is a coordinated system of partnering organizations dedicated to:

- Providing accurate information about publicly and privately financed long-term supports and services
- Offering a consumer-oriented approach to learning about the availability of services in the home and community
- Alleviating the need for multiple calls and/or visits to receive services
- Supporting individuals and family members who are aging or living with a disability

Services are provided through private and subsidized options. The ability to pay privately offers an alternative to being placed on a waiting list.

Your starting point for

Long-Term Services & Supports

The Aging & Disability Resource Connection links seniors and adults with disabilities to resources that promote independence.

Georgia's Aging & Disability Resource Connection (ADRC) counselors use the Empowerline database to connect you to resources that can help you stay in your home.

Some of those resources include:

- Home health care agencies
- Respite care
- Caregiver support
- Home modifications and repairs
- Assistance with energy bills
- Home-delivered meals
- Wellness programs
- Assistive technology devices that help maintain independence
- Nursing home transitions

Work with a counselor to create a plan to stay in your home

Stay in your community. Stay in your home.

Make an appointment

Call to make an appointment with one of our counselors. Learn which services are best for you. Some individuals are eligible for publicly funded services. Some services are not available immediately and require placement on a waitlist for up to 12 months.

Complete an assessment

For some, paying for services is a better option than publicly funded services. This usually ensures the services will be provided more quickly. Subsidized resources go to those most in need, but do not assume any services are out of reach financially before speaking to a counselor.
